and Education New York, Nov. 9 .- Announcement that the will of Mrs. Russell Sage bequeaths between $30,000,000 and $35-090,000 to charitable and educational inotitutions was made in Syracuse by H. J. Slocum, Jr., one of Mrs. Sage's

Mr. Slocum is a son of H. J. Slocum, a brother of Mrs. Sage. It is believed Colonei J. J. Slocum, another brother, will receive the bulk of the estate, the value of which has been estimated at value of which has been estimated at $75,000,000.

Robert W. Deforest, attorney for the estate, said he could not confirm the statement nor make public any of the terms until it is offered for probate. He will file it in the surrogate's office in this country next week.

After her husband's death, Mrs. Sage gave away $25,000,000, virtually one-lialf the estate. Her private charities, which were numerous, were entirely apart from the work of the Sage Foundation, which she established in 1907 with a $10,000,000 donation for "the improvement of social and living conditions in the United States."

Winter Fashions Arrive in a Fine Flourish— The Down Stairs Store at Wanamaker's Is Ready

Hundreds of Snug, New Top Coats

These Suits for Women Are Especially Fine at $25

They are of wool velour, poplin or burella of good quality made in a number of ways. Some show quite a bit of braiding, some are trimmed with fur, and there is an air of military smartness about others. From $5 to $10 is to be saved on each of these.

Other wool velour suits of novel cut and some attractive broadcloth suits trimmed with fur have been grouped together with a few velveteen suits, and the whole lot marked special at $35.

Sample Suits

of broadcloth and duvet de laine with big fur collars are $57.50. Some suits of velour de laine have a new feature in their fur collars of natural or taupe-dyed nutria, which are detachable. $57.50.
